

NATION COMPLIES WITH FUEL SAVING MANDATE; PRESIDENT WILSON WILL NOT INTERFERE

Industries are Idle and the Country Feels the First Real Pinch of War; Coal and Coke Operators Continue as Usual; All Forms of Fuel Included in Prohibition; Supplementary Order Issued Today.

MILLIONS OF WORKERS ARE GIVEN VACATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—It was stated officially early today that President Wilson is not even considering interfering with the fuel restriction order and feels that the country will be satisfied with its necessities.

America felt the pinch of war perhaps for the first time today with its industries laying idle under the fuel order issued to relieve the coal shortage and release fuel for ships loaded with supplies for the American armies and the Allies.

Coal operators under contract to supply fuel will not be shut down. Orders from the Fuel Administration instruct them to ship their coal as usual, consigning it to State Fuel Administrators with drafts attached. The government will buy all coal mined where industries are forbidden to receive it. A sum of $25,000,000 has been set aside for this purpose.

"It is my understanding," Food Administrator Hoover said, "that the order does not include grain elevators, rail mills, bakeries, stock yards, meat packing establishments, cold storage plants, sugar factories or any other form of the food industry."

In special orders issued by the Fuel Administration concerning packing houses, canning mills and roasting mills for government contracts also are exempted.

Manufacturers of optical glasses are allowed to operate on government orders.

Announcement that the use of all forms of fuel, wood, oil and natural gas, as well as coal would be prohibited, caused considerable confusion today and strenuous efforts are being made to have wood, oil, natural gas and water power users exempted.

All the principal munitions plants will be permitted to work at full capacity under the fuel restriction order.

It was announced last night by the fuel administration, only portions of the fuel making condenser tubes would be permitted to operate. It is an official mistake.

At the DuPont powder plants and the plants of 18 other companies mentioned in last night's official announcement as being restricted to manufacture of condenser tubes are the official modification today permitted to run full blast.

It is understood that some additions to the accepted list will be made today. Meanwhile the fuel administration is concentrating its efforts on saving shipping congestion.

From the flood of applications for exemptions piling in it appears that steel mills and woolen plants making uniforms for soldiers would receive favorable action, probably being added to the list.

It was ordered today that only one making plant may operate in any place. The exempted plant, however, will be required to furnish its product to the closed ice plants at reduction cost.

CITY FALLS INTO LINE; ORDER OF GARFIELD OBEYED

Only Doubt in Minds of People Is Regarding the Merchants.

MEETING CALLED TONIGHT

Effort Will Be Made to Clear Away Some of the Apparent Incongruities in Administration Order; Industry Here Is At a Standstill Today.

The effect of the order on industries in Connellsville and vicinity is very much as was forecast in The Courier yesterday. There is general obedience by all establishments to which the order has application and as a result they have suspended operations and will remain idle until during the five day period and on each succeeding Monday until March 25, unless other instructions or rulings are handed down meantime. Several plant managers are not clear as to the course can pursue but rather than take any risk they have closed down every part of their establishments calling for the consumption of fuel beyond that necessary to prevent damage from freezing of pipes and the like.

All of the mine supply manufacturing plants have a number of very urgent orders from mines and coke works on hand, the completion of which is, in many instances, necessary to the continued operation of the mines. Without explicit instructions as to what will be permitted to be done with such orders, the managers have, in most cases, taken the safe course of suspending work until more fully advised. At the Connellsville Machine & Car company a few mechanics are at work but nothing is being done which requires consumption of power.

Everything is closed down at the plant of the Connellsville Manufacturing & Mine Supply company, the management preferring to receive instructions with respect to mine orders now on hand before proceeding. At the Connellsville Iron Works conditions are the same. A few men are at work cleaning up about the plant this forenoon but they were laid off at noon. The McClellan foundry is closed. At Boyts, Porter & Company a few men are working on some urgent mine pump repairs.

Boys, Porter & Company, appealed to William Potter of Philadelphia, state fuel administrator, to operate, and in return was referred to the Fayette county committee. George S. Connell, local representative of the county organization, ruled that the concern need not entirely suspend providing it filed an affidavit setting forth that the only work done was on emergency orders from mines or coke plants.

"The sense of the closing order," Mr. Connell stated, "is that all manufacturing must cease during the next five days. There can be no discrimination. Manufacturers must clearly show that an emergency exists which requires them to operate. If such permission is to be granted. In connection with mines and mining, this committee does not interpret ordinary orders as permitting a violation of Dr. Garfield's ruling. The emergency must be a real, and not a fancied one, and the burden of proof is on the manufacturing company seeking exemption."

The planing mills are doing no work requiring the use of any machinery. Carpenters and other workmen are engaged on certain classes of hand work only. The Connellsville Laundry company is running today but it will be idle on Monday except that collections will be made as usual. Laundries are closed with bakeries, hospitals and charitable institutions for insurance and other purposes and Manager Adrian is of the impression that a similar classification will be made under the new fuel restriction order. Had operations been suspended today for five days all the articles in process of being laundered would be completely ruined by next Tuesday. The laundering of hotel and hospital linen being a necessity Mr. Adrian is of the opinion that the operation of laundries will be permitted without interruption. Upon that assumption he will operate tomorrow, but lay off on Mondays until other instructions or orders are received.

But three men are at work at the plant of the Casparis Stone company, a night watchman, tramway engineer and stable man. The hauling of a stock of coal up the mountain was completed yesterday, after a long wait for receipt of the shipment and a few men were placed at work this morning. Upon the receipt of a message from the general office these men were laid off, and no work will be done until next Wednesday. The fear is expressed that it will be difficult to hold the winter force, numbering about 30 men, on account of the five day lay-off.

BRITISH PUBLIC AROUSED OVER FOOD SHORTAGE

Workmen Compelled to Go to Daily Employment Without Breakfast.

MASS MEETING IS CALLED

Charges That Fuel Lies in Distribution and That There is No Actual Shortage Will Be Thrown Out at That Time; The Texan Is Safe.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Popular dissatisfaction with the food distribution which is particularly strong in the industrial districts will be forcibly expressed at Manchester and in that neighborhood January 25 when, according to a decision just reached, 100,000 workers in the Manchester engineering shops will cease work for a day with the purpose of protesting against the unequal distribution of food and demanding a general rationing order.

According to the leaders of the engineers there is deep dissatisfaction, and suspicion among the men, who believe that the difficulties are due less to shortage of food than to unequal distribution. They cite instances of men having to start work in the morning without food owing to the inability of their wives to obtain it the preceding day.

The feeling is so intense that an immediate compulsory rationing system is necessary applicable alike to rich and poor.

STAMPSHIP TEXAN DAMAGED IN COLLISION, ARRIVES IN PORT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Jan. 18.—The Hawaiian-American line steamship Texan, which was in a collision at sea last Monday arrived here safely today under her own steam. It became known that she was rammed by a conveying warship which punched a hole in her port side.

The plants of the Pittsburgh Brewing and the Young Brewing companies are closed except making deliveries of stock on hand and a few men employed in odd jobs. No brewing or rickling is permitted during the five day shut-down or on the nine designated Mondays beginning with the 23rd. Until 6 o'clock last evening the understanding at the plant of the Pittsburgh Brewing company was that bottling would be permitted, but later instructions from the general office announced that this would also be prohibited during the lay-off days.

Operations have suffered no break at the bakeries, the plants of the Rose Ice Cream company, the Young Ice Storage company and the Connellsville Macaroni company, these being the only plants in the city, with the possible exception of the laundry, which are exempted from the provisions of the closing order. The production of these plants is classified as food, hence the exemption. The suspension of work by other industries, with the reduction in the quantity of freight moving, will give the Connellsville Macaroni company an excellent opportunity to clear up a large stock accumulation as well as make up overdue goods from a large supply of flour now on hand.

The plant of Sligo Iron & Steel company has been idle all week for lack of material which is held up somewhere in the freight congestion. The plant is being held in readiness to start on Wednesday if material is received, sufficient steam being kept up to prevent freezing of pipes. The subsequent Mondays will be observed as lay-off day unless different orders are issued. A force of men is engaged in loading finished material and doing odd jobs about the mill.

The Specialty Sisk company, operating on electric power, is closed down completely. The Tri-State Candy company, using only natural gas in its factory, has suspended all operations except that shipments are being continued.

The United States Electric Steel company rather welcomes the closing order, as it will provide an opportunity to make some needed repairs. To complete these the plant will be closed down until February 1, at which time it will resume for a straight run of nine months' duration. Such employees as are not needed in the repair work will be taken care of by the West Penn Power company meantime and surrendered to the steel company when again in need of them. The extreme difficulty which now exists in securing raw material it is thought will be overcome to some extent by February 1, in which case operating conditions will be vastly improved over those prevailing recently.

UNREST AMONG MINERS

Government Ownership Has Not Relieved Situation in West Virginia.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 18.—A telegram from Samuel B. Montgomery, commissioner of labor for West Virginia, to the convention of the United Mine Workers of America stating that on Wednesday, 111 out of 162 mines in the Kanawha district were idle, throwing out of employment 8,700 men and in the Clarkburg-Fairmont district 107 mines out of 143 were shut down, making 7,447 men idle was received and read today by Frank J. Hayes, president of the mine workers at the opening of today's session. The telegram states that the loss of production amounted to 104,800 tons due to coal shortage.

"This continues daily," the message said, "There has not been the slightest improvement since the government took over control of the railroads. Food prices amount higher and great unrest exists in the coal fields as men who want work and cannot get it see their ability to purchase needed food for their families reduced one-half."

COLORED SCOUT TROOP.

There are at present between 15 and 20 boys in the troop which is governed by the local council of scouts in this city. Rev. Allen asked Scout Commissioner Stone if he could go ahead with the work or organizing a troop and the negro boys are reported to be taking much interest in the work.

FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT TO DELIVER TWO ADDRESSES IN COUNTY THURSDAY, MARCH 7

Afternoon Appearance Will Be at Patriotic Rally Under County Auspices.

BAR BANQUET AT NIGHT

Former President William Howard Taft will deliver two addresses in Uniontown the afternoon and evening of March 7, according to announcement made today. In the afternoon he will speak at a great patriotic gathering at a place yet to be designated. In the evening he will appear at the annual banquet of the Fayette County Bar Association, which organization has been endeavoring for a long time to secure an open date.

The announcement for the afternoon address is made by a committee composed of M. H. Bowman, of Uniontown, chairman of the Fayette County Liberty Loan campaign committee; H. E. Umbel, chairman of the executive committee of county branch of the Y. M. C. A. war work council; John Lynch, chairman of the Knights of Council War Fund; Wooda N. Carr, chairman of the county speakers' bureau; and Judge E. H. Reppert, president of the Uniontown chapter of the Red Cross. It reads:

"Ex-president William H. Taft will address a public meeting to be held in this city on the afternoon of March 7th next. The object of the meeting is to arouse increased interest in and devotion to the great task in which the country is engaged. Those taking part in the various lines of war work activity have felt the need of reaching all our people, so that each might contribute of his resources according to his strength and means. There is an insistent demand for whole-hearted, unanimous and consecrated endeavor."

"Some months ago, before the Bureau of Public Speakers was organized in this country, it was suggested that a mass meeting be addressed by a speaker of national reputation would be helpful to that end. Through the efforts of those interested, the consent of Ex-president Taft to address the people of our country has been secured. It is hoped that this may be followed at appropriate intervals by meetings at other points in the county, to be addressed by men of like reputation."

"A. C. Haggin, Esq., has been asked to preside at this meeting and to appoint such committees as may be needed. Your cooperation and help are earnestly desired and solicited."

WATER PRESSURE IS NORMAL; FAUCETS ARE SHUT OFF AT NIGHT

One Million Gallons Less a Day Are Being Pumped by Water Company.

Although water conditions have been deplorable in the past few days, the situation is much better according to information given out at the offices here. The water company is pumping about 1,000,000 gallons less a day than it has been and the pressure has been restored to normal. No more trouble is expected if persons will turn their faucets off at night.

With a view to reducing the dangers due to low water pressure in the city mains Mayor Luggan has issued notice to the public directing attention of consumers to the necessity of preventing waste. The notice is as follows:

"The practice of water consumers allowing water to flow from faucets to prevent freezing has resulted in a decrease in pressure throughout the city, notwithstanding that practically twice the normal consumption of water is being pumped."

"Such practice tends to seriously impair the fire fighting facilities by reducing the pressure and available volume of water."

"The city of Connellsville cannot permit such impairment."

"It therefore becomes the public duty of every citizen to eliminate waste of water himself and to report to the city clerk the name and address of anyone wasting water."

"All waste of water must immediately stop."

The discovery is being made in various parts of the city, principally in the more elevated and exposed sections, that service pipes are frozen solid thus cutting off the supply of water to residences. Plumbers making repairs report the ground frozen to a depth of three feet, which is deeper than many service lines are laid. In a number of instances pipes have been thawed out only to freeze up again within a short time. This is a condition which will continue until the weather becomes warmer, it is believed.

OLD FIAT WILL FURNISH 50 FOR MECHANICS ARMY

This Is Relief of Committee For Enlistment of Pershing Workers.

TRAINED MEN ARE NEEDED

Only Those Over or Under the Draft Age May Enlist and the Quota Will be Drawn Largely From the Latter and More Skilled Class of Men.

Fayette county will contribute at least 50 of Pennsylvania's quota of 1,000 men to the new motor mechanics regiment which is being recruited for almost immediate service in France.

This was the consensus of opinion expressed to Chairman Benton Boyd at last night's meeting of the committee on civilian service and labor of the Fayette county division, Committee of Public Safety. The members gathered in the office of Executive Secretary George S. Connell, in the First National Bank building, and laid plans for a recruiting drive which will last for the next two weeks. The regiment must be recruited before February 1 and will be sent immediately to Camp Hancock, at Augusta, Ga., for a period of intensive training.

The call for recruits for the motor mechanics' regiment opens a field for specially trained men. Men with experience in gasoline engine and automobile work are the ones most needed. They will be engaged in the most fascinating and thrilling of all war activities, that of the airplane division. The work of the flyers, said by many to be the most important of the war, cannot be accomplished with hundred per cent efficiency unless there is ample force back of the lines to keep the machines in trim. It is this work for which the motor mechanics' regiment is being recruited.

Only those who are under draft age, or over it, may enlist. The opportunity for men of draft age to get in the service passed on December 15. There are, however, scores of men within the county who are anxious to get into the war, and who have been awaiting an opportunity such as is now presented.

Prospective recruits may apply in person to the army recruiting officer in Uniontown. It is probable that special days during the next two weeks' campaign will be assigned for recruits to meet the officer in Connellsville, Brownsville and other parts of the county. The following appointments have been made of those who will furnish information to recruits. In Connellsville, George S. Connell; in Brownsville, John S. Connell; in Dunbar and J. F. Black; in T. Vernon Run, Over 50 per cent of these accepted will rank as non-commissioned officers. The new quota is from $30 a month for a private to $100 for men especially trained, plus a family allowance of from $1 to $2 a month, according to the number of dependents.

The kind of auto and gas engines men needed are those who understand and would work on high class engines.

Owing to the fact that the recruiting of the regiment has been put up to the Committee of Public Safety there has been a misapprehension on the part of some people as to the nature of the service. Recruits must enlist in the United States Army under the same conditions that they would enlist in any other branch of the service. By selecting the motor mechanics' Regiment, however, they have an opportunity to pack their work. Members of the Fayette county committee have nothing to do with enlistments other than to see that possible recruits are sent to the nearest recruiting station. Members are, as a matter of fact, urged to accompany the recruits in person to the recruiting office.

A record is to be kept of enlistments and members of the committee are to keep a record of all who enlist. A list will also be kept of those who desire to enlist, but are turned down for any reason, in order that such a man may be enrolled in the Public Service Reserve, an organization through which it is hoped to draw skilled mechanics for important war work not requiring an enlistment in the army.

Pennsylvania's quota of 1,000 men is to be divided into the following classes:

Auto and gas engine men, 466; auto and gas engine men (ignition), 43; auto and motor truck drivers, 28; blacksmiths and forgings, 31; canvas workers (aeroplane), 14; carpenters and cabinet makers, 72; cooks, 28; harness makers, 3; machinists—general mechanics, 57; lathe hands, 22; milling and planers, 23; tool makers, 91; house painters, 6; sign painters, 5; sheet metal workers, 69 acetylene welders, 11; wheelwrights, 31.

Diphtheria

A sore throat is a good breeding place for diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can wisely depend upon TONSILINE. Give Tonsiline upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSILINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membrane—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by Diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house where you can get it quick when needed. 50c, 60c, and $1.00.

I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2642 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

MEASURING PATRIOTISM.

The order of the Fuel Administration suspending the operation of all industries, except public utilities and those producing food, has served a rather unexpected purpose. It has discovered to the country at large the fact that some people are not as patriotic as they really believed themselves to be.

When the band was playing, two boys in khaki marching through the streets with firm step, there was apparently no reason to doubt either the genuineness or the sincerity of the patriotism of the citizens who gathered on the sidewalks and joined in loud huzzas in honor of the lads who were going forth to do or die for our country. In the days which have since intervened these same citizens have pursued the even tenor of their several ways, responding cheerfully and liberally to the calls to aid the Red Cross, the Navy League, the Y M C A and the Knights of Columbus, and subscribing for Liberty Bonds. To these citizens the war was 1,000 miles away with an ocean between us and any foe, save the pro-German and his pacifist ally in this country. They felt a calm security and they enjoyed a peace and quiet content undisturbed by any direct contact with those harsher measures and things that have brought the war home to those who reside in the belligerent countries.

When, therefore, in the judgment of the powers that are directing America's part in the war, the emergency was deemed so great that it became necessary to take a revolutionary step like the order of the Fuel Administration, comprehending many of these same citizens, who would doubtless resent any imputation upon their patriotism, rose in strong indignation, and condemning wrath at the action of the government.

Whether that action were the wisest that could have been taken or whether it were absolutely necessary to be taken, are questions of far less importance for consideration at this moment than the attitude of those who would resent the interference by the government, as a way measure, with the accustomed order of things upon the questions which this order involves. There are honest differences of opinion. Upon the question of accepting the conditions imposed, in the spirit and willingness to make any needed sacrifice to help win the war, there can be no differences of opinion.

In this free land of ours we have the right to question the efficacy of any measure designed for the public good and even to criticize it sharply, but in such a crisis as now confronts our nation we do not, if we claim to be true patriots, have the right to assume an attitude of violent or unreasoning opposition to the action of the government. Every such manifestation of this kind is but meat and drink to Germany, which its agents are all too eager to seize upon and magnify as evidence of a lack of unity among our people on the issues of the war.

The restrictive fuel order, if it stands, may work many hardships, cause heavy losses and compel real sacrifices but, as against these who is there bold enough to say that such hardships, such losses or such sacrifices are worthy to be compared with those the boys who will go "over there" will endure, suffer or make?

The most that the fuel restriction order would require any to give up, is but a part of what they may now have and can get again. The orders the boys will receive may require them to give up all that they have, and which can never be returned to them again. By this standard of comparison those who remain behind must measure themselves; if they would be accounted as patriotic as they believe themselves to be.

WHO'S STANDING BY?

In the situation which the fuel restriction order has developed it is interesting to note, with what unanimity and firmness the members of the Administration's party in Congress are "standing by" the President.

Senator Hitchcock, Democrat from Nebraska, the one of the few introduced the resolution in the Senate to hold up the order until "protests may be heard, investigation made and information presented." Reform in our government in running wild, declared this Senate leader of Democracy's forces. "I predict that before much time elapses we will be compelled to lodge somewhere absolute power for a coordination of branches of our government that are now running wild. The various officials and branches are not working in harmony."

"I regard this order as a calamity," declared Senator Vardaman, one of the "wild men" from Mississippi. Senator Pomeroy, Democrat of Ohio, used the identical words in expressing his opinion. Senator Thomas, a Democrat born in Georgia, but now representing Colorado in the Senate, urged the passage of Hitchcock's resolution first and debating it afterward.

These are but examples of the Democratic support given to the action of the Fuel Administrator which had been taken with the approval of the President, and thus show to what extent the members of his own party are "standing by."

ELIMINATING JURY TRIALS.

A suggestion has been made by a Pittsburgh attorney to eliminate trial by jury of civil suits during the war in order that the men comprising the juries may not be taken from the farms and industries where there is the greater need for their services.

This suggestion is so practical and common sense that it is being very favorably commented on in many quarters, not only as a means of releasing a large number of workers from non-productive service, but as a means of expediting the business of the courts and also lessening the expense. Moreover, it would afford a practical demonstration of a system of handling this class of cases by the judges only, which has long had some very earnest and able advocates among the members of the bar. The immediate interest, though, lies with the conserving for more useful work the man-power of the country. Upon this proposition our very capable contemporary, the Latrobe Bulletin, makes these observations:

"The judges may be liberal with their excuses in cases wherein the needs of the government are concerned, but even so, it would seem almost impossible to fill a jury panel and to keep it filled without requiring men from the mills, the mines and the farms, resulting in more or less inconvenience, if not actual delay, in the development of work essential to the nation's preparedness."

"It is manifest that the work of justice must go on, in war times as well as in times of peace, but in the event that the necessity of utilizing the nation's man-power to the fullest possible extent continues to increase with the prolongation of the war, it is altogether likely that just as in England so in this country, the suggestion of placing the duty of rendering verdicts in the hands of the judges with the relieving of the laymen from jury duty is certain to come in for consideration."

The weather report says nothing about it but Washington is the real storm center of the country today and the Fuel Administrator Garfield is the center of the center.

That is a very effective test of the genuineness of a kick Mayor Duggan is applying when persons claim overcharges for coal. Putting it down in black and white and attaching names to the statements is different from just talking about them.

How would you like the job of fuel administrator these days?

Secretary Baker still believes the war is 1,000 miles away. Fuel Administrator Garfield begins to differ with him mildly asserting that it is much closer home uncomfortably close, so to speak.

A threatened meat famine should have no terrors for us. Just declare a few meatless days and we'll not recognize the famine should it appear.

There will be a large increase in the number of plants in cold storage during the ensuing five days while coal storage is taking on increased proportions.

The high school students do so well selling Christmas Red Cross goods that they ought to do even better selling War Savings Stamps.

Some patriotism is being placed in cold storage these days.

Among the industries this is Cold Friday.

The people are making it so warm for the fuel order that officials that the coal restriction order will not need to be applied there.

The secret of the opposition to the Senate to the fuel order is revealed and by a Democrat at that. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, author of the resolution to delay the operation of the order, says that his intention "is a great disappointment to the Senate. That must be repeated at all cost or hazard no matter how many blizzards may rage or how much people must shiver from the cold."

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason.

NEW YEAR TROUBLES.

On New Year's day I made a pledge that I would smoke no more, next morning I began to hedge and turned up stories four. I used to smoke just now and then before that pledge sublime, but now while telling in my den, I'm at it all the time. I have all kinds of weed, I wot in boxes, cans and jars. I smoke a pipe until it's hot, and then I try cigars. To all tobacco stores I've chased, and bought up smokers' tools, the old weed has a better taste, when smoked against the rules. All smokers sometimes tire of smoke and pipes and nicotine they say. "Too long we've borne the yoke of habits punk ween. Tobacco is a frost and blight from which all men should steer. It brings more trouble than delight we'll cut it out right here. And so, I have made their vow and pined it in a frame before they think I'd give a cow to play the old pipe game. So, with a furtive guilty air, they light up the chevron, and desire the brave, frosty ice cold stare and granny's moral hoot."

COASTERS ARRESTED

Young Men Who Hide on Crawford Avenue Hit Face Mayor.

Four local young men W. A. Clasper, D. H. Bittner, R. C. McGill and J. R. Smith were arrested last night by Patrolman Emmons, charged with violating the sledding rule laid down by Mayor John Duggan. The young men were arrested at 10 o'clock last night for coasting on the Crawford avenue hill.

Each appeared for a hearing this morning and were warned against violating the rule again. The $2.50 forfeits left by them last night were returned. The big sled on which they were riding was not taken by the police.

NASTY MEDICINES BAD FOR CHILDREN

It is not often a child requires medicine of any kind. If the bowels are regular and the appetite is good, the general health is very apt to be according to the child's needs. Powders, syrups and unpalatable compounds, should never be given to children. Any therapeutic virtue such remedies may possess is largely nullified by the youngster's natural aversion.
For most children a mild laxative, administered occasionally, is all that is needed to assure normal regularity and good health. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a pleasant-tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiate or narcotic drugs, and acts gently yet effectively. Children like it and take it readily, so that it is the ideal remedy for the family medicine chest.
It is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. M.
Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Washington, D. C.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister.
You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!
Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients.
They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bit, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

WHEN A MAN SEES RED
WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

THE PARAMOUNT

"WHEN A MAN SEES RED," a Fox Standard picture in which William Farnum has a fighting role, is being presented today. In the picture there is a fight to the death between Farnum and Marc Robbins. The picture is played by Jewel Carmen, the pivotal character who, attracting both men, will bring them together for the final terrible fight, when the hero will get his revenge. The evil captain's end is not full until he is found attempting to sell the girl, the victim of a wreck, to a bunch of beachcombers on a South Sea island. The hero loves her and finds her being sold to this horrible fate. Then comes the fight, bare handed, till the corpse of the villain lies on the sandy beach. In the picture we see life on a square rigged ship and on a rich man's yacht, beach scenes and the nondescript humanity who live on them. There is a group of scenes showing the wrecking of the yacht that is very gripping. A comedy is included in the picture. Monday Harold Lockwood will be seen in "The Square Deceiver," a Metro attraction of unusual interest. Tuesday "Over There," a select picture, in which Charles Richman and Anna Q. Nilsson are seen in the leading roles, will be presented for the benefit of the Navy League. Jane Cowl will appear soon in "The Spreading Dawn," a Goldwyn attraction.

THE SOISSON.

"THE CONVICT AND THE GIRL." The big audiences at the Soisson today and tonight will find an abundance of thrills and a never ending flow of comedy in the real melodrama "The Convict and The Girl." The play is a genuine pleaser of exceptional quality. Filled with human sentiment and romance "The Convict and The Girl" will be declared one of the positive successes of the long Manhattan Players repertoire. The vaudeville attractions between acts are equally interesting and the whole bill is worth seeing by every member of the family. The big extra attraction tonight will be the country grocery store, with fifty useful and more or less valuable presents for Soisson patrons. Mr. Hillis is donating a splendid gold filled watch as the special prize. The winner may have the choice of a ladies' or gentlemen's model. Next week the Manhattan Players will be seen in three corking productions: "A Man of the Hour," "The Devil" and by urgent request a single day of the effervescent comedy success "Mr. Kearney From Killarney."

THE ARCADE.

Zarrow's Vaudeville today and tomorrow present their last bill at the Arcade. This company has a unique form of entertainment, vaudeville with a chorus. Every one of the acts are of the big time variety and the chorus is composed of girls who can sing. It's a nifty show. The picture for today and tomorrow is the last episode of "The Railroad Raiders," with Helen Holmes and Justice triumphant. On each Friday and Saturday after this week W. S. Hart in 10 of his strongest pictures will be at the Arcade. The booking of this star means that the Arcade management is paying the limit for good pictures with famous stars. "The Fighting Trail" will be followed by "Vengeance and the Woman," in which the same stars appear. Coming next week is Reynolds' Wonderful Girls, featuring the South's most popular comedian, "Skeeter" Quinn and dainty little Miss Ada Banks. Week after next the Arcade will have a return engagement of one of the best companies that ever played the house.

Life No Longer a Burden to Erie Man—Tanlac Brings Joy.

"I was pale as a ghost, weak and terribly nervous before I took Tanlac," said H. W. Baldwin, the well-known furniture repairman, of 513 East Tenth street, Erie, Pa.

"I had been in that condition for almost a year, following an attack of grippe, which laid me low for a time and then left me in such a frightful condition, practically helpless and with life a burden."

"I had been to some of the best physicians in Erie and had taken every remedy I could afford to buy, but still I got no relief. I suffered continually from pains in my back, clogged kidneys and bowels and gas on my stomach."

"Finally, a friend recommended Tanlac, and I had hardly taken half a bottle when my stomach began to clear up; my bowels began to get regular and my kidneys to act right. My nervousness disappeared after the second bottle, and when I completed the third I was enjoying and am still enjoying the most perfect health."

Tanlac is being sold here by The Connellsville Drug Co.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's drug store.—adv.

Mount Pleasant

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 18.—George Swidersky, who has been wanted since February, 1917, when a true bill was found against him by the grand jury at that term of court, was arrested Wednesday by Constables James Ellis and Millard McCollough only after he had put up a fight and injured Mr. Ellis' right hand. Paul Feighner of Greensburg, came and took him to Greensburg to jail. In October, 1916, four men beat up Frank Bealsky at No. 2 Standard shaft and one of the men got away. George and Joe Swidersky ran off and went to Chicago. Thinking the affair had been forgotten, George came back to Mammouth to work and Wednesday night took a chance and came to town. He was seen at the Central Hotel by Bealsky who informed the local officers.

Wouldn't Pay Tax.

Chief of Police Robert Smith yesterday arrested two foreigners, Frank Ozda and Ignatz Bartok, at the east end of town and took them off the 115 north bound West Penn street car because they had refused to pay war tax. These two men had gotten on the West Penn car at Uniontown, bound for Greensburg and had paid their war tax, but they then decided to get off at Connellsville and stay for an hour and this broke the continuous trip. When they got on the car at Connellsville they refused to pay tax, stating that they had paid once. They went before Justice of the Peace L. S. Rhodes, and paid a fine and the war tax amounting to a little over $5.

Leg Broken.

A 30 year old foreign boy from Standard shaft ran in front of an automobile on Main street near the Patterson Hardware store and was struck by the machine which belonged to Andrew Gernard of Alverton. The boy's leg was broken.

When you are wearied from overwork, feel listless and languid, can't sleep or eat as you should, you are getting run-down—an easy prey to dangerous disease germs. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—nature's herbs—should be taken without delay. Connellsville Drug Co.—adv.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Dollar Chasers.

Granville took them to his bosom with a haste and earnestness that made Hazel catch her breath. That little nose so much as mentioned Andrew Bush, nor the five-thousand-dollar legacy—the disposition of which, even still perplexed that defunct gentleman's executors. And once more in a genial atmosphere Hazel concluded to let sleeping dogs lie. She learned from various sources that Bill's fortune loomed big had grown by some mysterious process of Granville's tattling until it had reached the charmed six figures of convention.

There had been changes. Jack Barrow had consoled himself with a bride. Moreover, he was making good, in the popular phrase at the real-estate game. The Marshes as she had previously known them had been tottering on the edge of shabby gentility but they had come into money. And as Bill singularly put it, they were using their pile to cut a lot of social ice. Kitty Brooks' husband was now the head of the biggest advertising agency in Granville. Hazel was glad of that mild success.

She was inordinately proud of Bill, when she compared him with the average Granville male—yet she found herself wishing he would adopt a little more readily the Granville viewpoint. He felt short of it, or went beyond it, she could not be sure which she had in uneasy feeling sometimes that he looked upon Granville doings and Granville folk with amused tolerance not unmixed with contempt. But he attracted attention. Whenever he was minded to talk he found ready listeners.

Once or twice she conjured up a vision of his getting into some business there, and utterly foregoing the North—which for her was already beginning to take on the aspect of a bleak and cheerless region where there was none of the things which daily whetted her appetite for luxury, nothing but hardships, lameness and pain. The gold had been their reward—a reward well earned, she thought. Still—they had been wonderfully happy there at the Pine river cabin she remembered.

They came home from a theater party late one night. Hazel kicked off her slippers, and gratefully tossed her silk stockings feet at the small coal grate. Fall had come, and there was a sharp nip to the air.

"Well, what do you think of it as far as you've gone?" he asked abruptly.

"I think it's fine," she candidly admitted. "I'm enjoying myself. I like it. Don't you?"

"As a diversion," he observed thoughtfully, "I don't mind it. These people are all very affable and pleasant, and they're rather gone out of their way to entertain us. But, after all, what the dickens does it amount to?" They spent their whole life running in useless circles. I should think they'd get sick of it. You will."

"Hardly Billum," she smiled. "We're merely making up for two years of isolation. I think we must be remarkable people that we didn't fight like cats and dogs. For eighteen months you know there wasn't a soul to talk to and not much to think about except what you could do if you were some place else."

"You're acquiring the atmosphere," he remarked—sardonically, she thought.

"No, just enjoying myself," she replied lightly.

"Well if you really are," he answered slowly, "we may as well settle here for the winter—and get settled right away. I'm rather weary of being a guest in another man's house, to tell you the truth."

"Why I'd love to stay here all winter," she said. "But I thought you intended to knock around more or less."

"But don't you see, you don't particularly care to," he pointed out, "and it would spoil the fun of going any place for me if you were not interested. And when it comes to a show down I'm not aching to be a bird of passage. One city is pretty much like another to me. We'll take a run over to New York. I want to get some books and things. Then we'll come back here and get a house or a flat. I tell you right now, I'm laughing not unpleasantly, 'I'm not going to resign on this society game. You can play it as hard as you like and I'll spring. I'll be there with bells on when it comes to a dance. And I'll go to a show—when a good play comes along. But I won't mix up with a lot of silly women and equally silly men, any more than I absolutely necessary."

"Why, Bill?" she exclaimed against. "Well, ain't it so?" he defended lazily. "There's Kitty Brooks—the last certainly got intelligence above the average. That Lorimer girl has brains superimposed on her artistic temperament and she uses 'em to advantage. Precisely all the rest that I've met are intellectual nonentities—strong on looks and clothes and amusing themselves, and that lets them out. Shocked, there isn't a real man in the lot. Maybe I'll run across some people who don't take a two-by-four view of life. If I stay around here long enough but it hasn't happened to me yet. I must say that the habitual conversation of these people gives me a pain. That platitudinous discussion of the play to-night for instance."

"That was droll," Hazel chuckled at the recollection and she recalled the weary look that had once or twice flitted over Bill's face during that after theater supper.

Bill snorted.

"Droll? Perhaps," he said. "Stupid ignorance, coupled with a desire to appear the possessor of culture is sometimes amusing. But as a general thing it simply irritates."

"You're hard to please," she replied. He shrugged his shoulders and remained silent.

"Well," he said presently, "we'll take that jaunt to New York day after tomorrow."

He was still sitting by the window when Hazel was ready to go to bed. She came back into the room in a trailing silk kimono, and, stealing sofly up behind him put both hands on his shoulders.

"What are you thinking about so hard about, Billy boy?" she whispered.

"I was thinking about Jake Lauer and wondering how he was making it go," Bill answered. "I was also picturing to myself how some of these worthy citizens would fuss things up if they had to follow in his steps. Hang it I don't know but we'd be better off if we were pegging away for a foothold somewhere like old Jake."

"If we had to do that," she argued. "I suppose we would, and manage to get along. But since we don't have to why wish for it? Money makes things pleasant."

"If money meant that we would be compelled to lead the sort of existence most of these people do, he retorted, 'I'd take a new pair of boots as soon as possible!'" Hazel commented.

"You're snoring again," Bill snorted again.

"Tomorrow you advise our hostess that we're traveling, he instructed. When we come back we'll make headquarters at a hotel until we locate a place of our own—if you are sure you want to winter here."

Her mind was quite made up to spend the winter there and she frankly said so—provided he had no other choice. They had to winter somewhere.

"Oh yes I suppose so. All right we'll winter here," Bill acquiesced. "That's settled."

And as was his habit when he had come to a similar conclusion he refused to talk further on that subject, but fell to speculating idly on New York. In which he was presently aided and abetted by Hazel, who had never invaded Manhattan nor for that matter any of the big Atlantic cities.

New York she was constrained to admit rather overwhelmed her. She traversed Broadway and other world known arteries and felt a trifle dazed amid the unceasing crush. Bill plotted her to famous cafes and to equally famous theaters. She made sundry purchases in magnificent shops. The huge conglomeration of sights and sounds made an unforgettable impression upon her. She sensed keenly the colossal magnitude of it all. But she felt a distinct wave of relief when they were Granville bound once more.

In a week they were settled comfortably in a domicile of their own—five rooms in an up-to-date apartment house. And since the social demands on Mrs. William Wags' time grew up a capable maid and a cook were added to the Wags' staff establishment. Thus she was relieved of the onus of housework. Her time was wholly her own at her own disposal or Bill's, as she elected.

But by imperceptible degrees they came to take diverse roads in the swirl of life which had caught them up. There were no more little women at fairs where a man was superfluous. There were others which Bill flatly refused to attend. "Hen parties" he dubbed them. More and more he returned at home with his books.

Sometimes Hazel caught herself wondering if they were getting as much out of the holiday as they should have gotten as they had planned to get when they were struggling through that interminable winter. She was that not Bill. If she ventured to give a ton he fled the house as if from the plague. He made acquaintances of his own, men from God only knew where individuals who occasionally filled the dainty apartment with maledictions to baccho fumes and who would cheerfully sit up all night discussing earnestly on any subject under the sun. But so long as Bill found Granville habitable she did not mind.

She wished fervently that Bill would take up some business that would keep him in touch with civilization. He had the capital she considered, and there was no question of his ability. Her faith in his power to encompass what ever he set about was strong. Other men less gifted had acquired wealth power even a measure of fame from a less auspicious beginning. Why not he?

But she could never quite bring herself to put it in so many words to Bill.

The cycle of weeks brought them to January. They had dropped into something of a routine in their daily lives. Bill's interest and participation in social affairs became negligible. When he was not absorbed in a book or magazine, he spent his time in some downtown haunt, having acquired membership in a club as a concession.

THE RAILROAD YARDS FORM PART OF THE WAR'S TRENCHES

What It Really Means to Handle 150 Trains a Day
at Conway.

REQUIRES REAL GENIUS

Even When Conditions Are Favorable to Easy Movement; a Sharp Task
When Barring, Shortage of Men and Power Form Bad Combination.

In a recent issue of the New York Tribune Theodore M. Knappen, a special correspondent, gave his impressions of a visit to the Conway yards of the Pennsylvania Lines West which presents an illuminating insight into the conditions which have prevailed at the great freight distributing point. History follows:

I visited the front line trenches yesterday. The regiments of the military line may not be active in the trenches before next spring. The fighting cohorts of transportation are there now. Already they know what war is. The war is being just as bitterly and as vigorously fought now, to conquer transportation, as it will be when the casualties from the front begin to fill columns. The great army of internal transport, numbering probably more men than we shall ever send to France, 1,750,000.

The railway army, insufficiently equipped, inadequately financed, doing more and getting less while other industries do more and get much more, is gamely attacking the mountainous problem that confronts it. The solution of the problem may be worked out with beautiful precision by the general operating committee, but it is here in the railway trenches that the hard work is done.

It is comparatively easy to press a button, call a stenographer and issue a bulletin. It is a different thing out on the line and in the great yards to interpret that bulletin, reconcile it with a hundred others, strive to observe the great fundamental law of success in freight handling—to keep the traffic moving uniformly—and confront always a mass of priority orders issued from the maze of confusion that is in Washington, broken down by war stress, now totalling the absurdity of 84 per cent.

Now add a pinch of embargo orders, issued by the railway executives themselves, orders that perforce deny priority orders, about ten thousand cars a day into the Conway yard—the great car clearing house between the east and the west—all the round-houses and repair shops with lame engines, blind the signal lights and penitential with fog and snow. Fill up your sick list to overflowing, give the yardmaster an army of green, untrained and insubordinate employees and tell him to handle 150 trains of freight a day or lose his job.

That is just a glimpse of war at the railway fronts. Interpret the yard master as a composite individual, multiplied by the wizards of car movement summoned from hither and yon to work with him, picture him or them standing on a bridge surveying 125 miles of track compressed into boundaries of three miles by half a mile, with more trouble in the shape of more trains pouring into both ends to join the trouble already brewed.

The signal sirens blast the orders from end to end of the yards. Two engines steadily push the incoming trains up the "humps," where they are "cut" according to the destination of the cars, and the latter roll down the other side of the hump to the great switching "ladder," where each car or group of cars is diverted to the particular track its classification calls for.

In the midst of the work in the darkness and storm of a blizzard night let the coal clock collapse, as it did the other night, making it impossible to coal the locomotives except by hand, and with men refusing or being unable to work in such weather. Imagine similar conditions over hundreds of miles of the critical zone of the war of the railways against freight, as was the actual case, and it is easy to understand why the General Operating Committee the next day sent a report to Washington that sounded like one of Kitchener's famous "I regret to report" dispatches from South Africa.

Yet it is a noteworthy fact that in no sense of the word has there been a breakdown of the great railway yards like Conway. No rush of traffic has been too great for them to assort; no weather conditions give them more than a temporary setback. Such yards, interchange and traffic yards rather than loading and unloading terminals, are everywhere, generally speaking, always ahead of the line.

NO MORE CATARRH

A Guaranteed Treatment That Has Stood the Test of Time.

Catarrh cures come and catarrh cures go, but Hyomel continues to heal catarrh and abolish its disgusting symptoms wherever civilization exists. Every year the already enormous sales of this really scientific treatment for catarrh grow greater, and the present year should show all records broken.

If you breathe Hyomel daily as directed it will end your catarrh, or it won't cost you a cent.

If you have a hard rubber Hyomel inhaler somewhere around the house get it out and start it at once to forever rid yourself of catarrh.

A. A. Clarke, or any other good druggist, will sell you a bottle of Hyomel (Liquid) start to breathe it and notice how quickly it clears out the air passages and makes the entire head feel free.

Hyomel used regularly will end catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis or asthma. A complete outfit, including a hard rubber pocket inhaler and bottle of Hyomel, costs but little. No stomach dosing; just breathe it. It kills the germs, soothes and heals the inflamed membrane.—Adv.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Boys inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside.
This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.—adv.

Out of 2,500 locomotives on the Pennsylvania Lines West there was actually not a single ready engine in reserve at Conway today. Thirty or 40 of the towering steam giants were being repaired or rebuilt, but there was not one engine ready for a new emergency.

There is the proof of the shortage of power. Working among these engines were grimy women; old like men.
There is the proof of the shortage of men.

Increase the number of locomotives very much, however, and to find abundant work for them you must have more cars. More cars and more engines mean more track. You can get neither cars, engines nor track in a few days or a few months in these times. To meet the demands of next year and, perhaps, the year after, all basse must be made by government and railways to provide them, but in the meantime, even after the railways shall have reached the ultimate point of efficiency with existing equipment there is no escape from the ruthless abolition of non-essential traffic.
